Self-confidence enables you to have a positive but realistic perception about yourself, your abilities and your circumstances. When you are confident with yourself, you are not afraid to take challenges and face your problems. When you are confident, you stand up for what you believe in. Self-confidence is just a perception, but it can be a self-fulfilling prophecy. When you are confident with yourself, you believe in your ability to succeed in your chosen field. If you are one of those people who are insecure, unmotivated, socially inept, underachieving, and negative, you may be suffering from low self-confidence and self-esteem. Low self-confidence can be dangerous. It can destroy your relationships, keep you from accepting great career opportunities, and prevent you from experiencing true love and intimacy. If you have low self-confidence, you will constantly feel frustrated. You regularly belittle yourself and your abilities. You do not strive for a better life because you think you do not deserve it. This book will help you improve your personal life and achieve success in your chosen career by building your self-confidence. This book will help you recognize your worth and build confidence in yourself and your abilities. Your life will change for the better.
